Lawrence Kunkel, son of Ed. F. Kunkel, left for Chino, Calif., one day last week where he has accepted a position with R. J. English, who has one of the finest ranches in the West—stocked with high-grade saddle horses. Young Kunkel will have charge of the training of these horses. Lawrence is all right; he'll make good anywhere.

Do away with the public watering trough for horses. It is a fruitful cause of disease; no doubt of it. Don't let the farmer's horse come in from the country and be forced to drink "slobbers" and filthy water. Let's find some sanitary way of publicly watering horses. Other cities are moving in this line, let Mexico get into the procession also.

The Fulton Gazette very justly remarks: When after this you ride on a railroad in Missouri and pay a fare of two cents a mile, be just enough to remember that it was insistence on the part of Joseph W. Folk, then governor of the state, that caused the legislature to enact the law by which you benefit, and that it was the work in the courts of Attorney-General Major, now governor of Missouri, which prepared the way for the supreme court decision.

Mrs. Bambrick Gets Divorce.

BUY A HOME IN THE Sunny Pecos Valley

Under the Carlsbad Project Backed by the United States Government

At Actual Cost—Without Interest

Sunshine all the time and water at just the right time is the best crop insurance, and puts money in the bank every year.

This is what farming does under the ideal conditions offered by United States government irrigation, Carlsbad, New Mexico, project—No crop failures—Maximum yield per acre.

An Honest Old Farmer

I was formerly of Johnson County, Mo. I have been in the Carlsbad Valley for six years. Four years ago I shipped four sows to my farm here and turned them on alfalfa. They have been there since without any grain, and I have to this day sold from these four sows $2,030 worth of hogs and have at the present time 32 brood sows, 120 pigs and will have as many more pigs farrowed in the next two weeks. I have never lost a hog from disease and have never heard of cholera in the Valley. I have raised hogs all my life in Missouri, Illinois and Kansas, but I consider this the best place for hogs I have ever seen.

(Signed) J. A. Hartshorne, farmer Carlsbad, New Mexico.

Write him if you will.

Satisfaction and Security

"Since the Government began furnishing water under the completed irrigation system I have always received all the water I needed and when I wanted it. I find great satisfaction and a sense of security in knowing that I can get just the right amount of water for my crops at any time they need it. John W. Hepler."

From Week to Week

I am going to tell you of this great country through the columns of the Mexico Missouri Message. Every piece of literature mailed out is under the inspection of "Uncle Sam" and can be depended upon. "Uncle Sam" wants this settled up, so keep watch on these ads. Write for any information or data you want.

Free Trip to Actual Settlers

Excursions leave Kansas City at 9:30 a. m. over the Santa Fe the first and third Wednesdays of each month. Special Pullman cars, diner service. On your arrival at Carlsbad next day you will be given a banquet by the Commercial Club and a royal, hospitable, thoroughly Western welcome by the citizens. The third day you will be taken by automobile over fine roads and past highly developed farms down the fertile Pecos Valley for eighteen miles to see some of the richest and most productive land in the world. It has been declared by the U. S. Geological Survey to be richer in plant food than the famous Valley of the Nile. None of it is more than four miles from good towns on the Santa Fe railroad. All is accessible by fine wagon roads and is as level as a floor. All is ready for cultivation; no mesquite or other clearing to be done. Near Malaga, at the lower end of the land; you will be given a fish or duck fry picnic at noon, returning to Carlsbad for the night. The fourth day an auto trip to Lakes McMillan and Avalon will be made and the government dams inspected. Returning, you will stop at the famous Carlsbad Mineral Springs and drink of their health giving waters. Early next morning you will leave for home, arriving at 5 p. m. the sixth day. All expenses of this trip will be credited to purchasers of land.

"Uncle Sam" Himself Deeds You the Water

Could it be better? A little "horse sense" tells any one that water when it is needed is the first essential in any irrigated project.

Carlsbad is noted throughout the United States as an exceptionally good health resort, especially for rheumatism and bronchial and pulmonary troubles. With plenty of water, best of climate, plenty of sunshine and a rich alluvial valley soil, what more could one ask?
